

Reference – On-Site Training

On-Site Training has been employed by Ackermans as one of their computer training providers for the last two years. As the Support Centre Trainer who coordinates all the computer training for Ackermans Head Office, I have worked closely with On-Site Training and Glen Davies. I have had the opportunity to experience how their unique approach and personal approach to training works.

The word that best describes Glen is 'customer driven'. His drive to be able to accommodate the needs that we have had over the last two years is honourable and he managed to do well in this regard. He shows that he is flexible in his approach when he has come across an obstacle.

Glen is able to go out of his way to accommodate his clients and gives his personal touch with his excellent customer service. He makes a concerted effort to get to know you on a more personal level while staying professional and going the extra mile to fill the needs the business may have.

Glen takes great pride in his work and is very loyal to the cause. He takes great care to make sure that everyone wins in terms of what they are looking for in a product or service

I recommend working with On-Site Training and Glen Davies as they are able to add value to what is being achieved.

Kind regards
